

1 March 1973

Dear Volunteers; Usually, these are the notes of the volunteer's meeting, but Lou couldn't make it to the meeting and nobody really wanted to take notes and I did not ask anyone directly to take notes so there are no notes. I jotted down a few for myself, and will try to pass along to you what I think went down at the meeting. Next week at this time, there will be regular notes, and having had to depend upon myself entirely this time, I probably will not be doing as many asides, which should prove a little easier to read/take.

Newsletter: Betty McDonell and Bob Nocero will handle the printing of the newsletter, so printing costs just dropped thru the floor. That really leaves only the cost of mailing to be seriously contended with, and Bob Brown has done the legwork on bulk mailing permits and such, so it would be wise to begin seriously considering what YOU will contribute to the newsletter.

Storefront: Paul Schiemer wants to design and (with heap) repaint the storefront. The sooner the better since we have a grand opening coming up soon. He will have some designs ready for the next volunteer's meeting, if you'd like to have a hand in this process, let Paul know. Those present at the meeting chose the three colors they like for the inside of the store to be painted. They (the colors) are up on display in the next volunteer's meeting, if you'd like to have a hand in this process, next meeting. Otherwise, those colors will be the ones. Actually, they're very nice.

Dave Dickenson, who most of you don't know, but is a new volunteer, will be making a rear-lit sign for the storefront, using the workshop logo a la letterhead. Dave volunteered to make the sign for us.

We are working on live coverage of the College Park Art show, not just taped, but real live. If we are to be able to pull this one off, we will need your help. Contact Walker Watson (299-7023) to help, please.

The open house will not be on May 6, since no work has (apparently) been done toward that date, but as soon as we can get a timetable for painting, we will set up a definite date for the open house, and we will pull that one off too.

When taking reservations over the telephone, please caution folks to get to class on time, classes have always been starting late because folks just don't come on time.

We are thinking of bringing in some Explorers for some projects in the workshop, sort of "Video Scouts". Any ideas are welcome.

The next cablecasting class is Friday at 7pm. As yet, no one has signed up to cablecast this weekend, so sign up and come to class, or come to class and sign up. If you haven't cablecast yet, you are missing an experience.

Projects: Jeff Kass recorded the Orlando City Council Monday, in total. The tape will run Tuesday night this week and Monday Night thereafter. The taping of the City Council is a weekly project as you know, and we can't drop the ball on this one. We need some experienced volunteers to help new folks on this taping, by being here at Noon on Monday helping them set up and tape. Contact Brian Zont or Debby Durham on this one.

Please keep your eyes open for Will May's polarizing filters, they have apparently been misplaced and he needs returned.

The next volunteer's meeting is next Monday, at Betty McDonnell's house, map included.

Also don't forget (if it's not already too late) the Rules Committee meets Wednesday night at 7:30 at Elliott's 632 E. Livingston.

